MODERATOR

Anna Edwards

Chief Advocacy Officer, Whiteboard Advisors

For nearly two decades Anna has helped to architect changemaking campaigns, and advised the leaders of the nation's most impactful businesses and nonprofits on national policy and advocacy initiatives. A product of the Atlanta Public School system and honors graduate of Yale University, Anna is regarded as trusted confidante and partner by both federal policymakers and state and local leaders alike on K-12, higher education and workforce policy. A student of the policy and market dynamics that impact preK-postsecondary education, Anna is a frequent speaker and advisor to education donors and investors. She is also Whiteboard Advisors' most frequent flyer, working with governors' offices, state departments of education, higher education and workforce leaders, and school districts across the country.

PRESENTERS

Geoffrey Canada

President, Harlem Children's Zone; Founder, William Julius Wilson Institute

Geoffrey Canada is the president of Harlem Children's Zone (HCZ), a world-renowned education and poverty-fighting organization based in New York City, and founder of William Julius Wilson Institute (WJWI). An innovator in the field of education, author, and leading advocate for children, Canada has made it his life's mission to help young people from under-resourced communities succeed through education. Under Mr. Canada's leadership, HCZ became a national model of place-based innovation for organizations across the country and the world. In 2010, President Barack Obama created the Promise Neighborhoods Initiative to replicate the HCZ model in under-resourced communities throughout the United States. In 2020, Mr. Canada came out of retirement to launch WJWI, a national resource for place-based, people-focused solutions that open pathways to social and economic mobility. For its first initiative, WJWI led a national COVID-19 Relief and Recovery Effort to combat the devastation of the pandemic in Black and brown communities across the country.

Roberto Rodríguez
Assistant Secretary, Office of Planning, Evaluation and Policy Development,
U.S. Department of Education

Roberto J. Rodríguez currently serves as Assistant Secretary for Planning, Evaluation, and Policy Development at the U.S. Department of Education, where he leads the development and review of the Department's budget and advises the Secretary on all matters related to policy development, implementation, and review.
